ENSEMBLE CAST RETURNS AND HILARITY ENSUES

RYAN Reynolds, Samuel L. Jackson, Salma Hayek, Antonio Banderas and Morgan Freeman star in “The Hitman’s Wife’s Bodyguard,” the sequel to the blockbuster film, “The Hitman’s Bodyguard.” Reynolds and Jackson are the world’s most lethal odd couple who are forced into action by Hayek in the fun and outrageous film. It is available on DVD for $29.96 from Lionsgate.

ALL 16 episodes of season six of “Fear The Walking Dead” are now available on DVD for $38.98 from Lionsgate. The sixth season of the American horror-drama television series on AMC finds the survivors of the apocalypse torn apart by the Pioneers and dispersed across their far-reaching settlements. Life behind the Pioneers’ walls tests each of the group members in different ways.

TONGUE-in-cheek vampire film, “Sundown: The Vampire in Retreat,” is available on Blu-ray for $17.99 from Lionsgate. David Caradine stars as Count Mardulak who is seeking atonement for centuries of human carnage and has instructed his vampire residents to slather on sunblock and drink only synthetic blood in the wild horror comedy.

GO back to school with the classic comedy, “Higher ED,” never before released to the home entertainment market. It’s the hilarious story of a 19-year-old who skips town to avoid a drug dealer and enrolls at a local college where he masquerades as a student on track scholarship and does his best to blend in. The DVD is available for $14.95 from Lightyear Entertainment.

BESTSELLING author Leonard Goldberg returns with another puzzling case for the daughter of Sherlock Holmes in, “The Abduction of Pretty Penny.” Joanna is joined by her husband and father-in-law to find a young actress that has gone missing in the captivating thriller. It is available on hardcover for $26.99 from Minotaur Books.

Throwing the book at them!

Library gifts help prisoners

IT’S EASY to read the satisfaction on the faces of an Iowa couple who have collected and donated more than three cart-loads of books to the library in their local jail!

Diane and Robert E. Findlay have even gone one step further to ensure that the folks behind bars at the Dallas County Jail will actually peruse the material they hand out — they’ve taken surveys to see what the inmates want to read.

“These are people who at various levels and for various reasons have made mistakes and they have a lot of time on their hands,” explains Diane. “If we can help them use that time constructively, that’s a good thing.”

Robert says the survey revealed the inmates were interested in 21 topics, including poetry, westerns, self-help and languages, “so we are trying to get all of those genres.” They collect items from libraries, bookstores and big-hearted people, and then swap out the reading material every few weeks to keep things fresh.

“The inmates have something to look forward to, they have something to do,” says chief deputy Adam Infante of the Dallas County Sheriff’s Office. “Idle hands cause problems, and they’re busy with that, which makes everybody a little less tense.”
