ACROPHET/Faded Glory (Metal Mind Productions) This is the 2nd and final release from this sadly missed band, but a 3rd release might be in the works. This is a bit more in a hardcore vein as the vocals were more punk in style and some of the tunes have that hardcore feel mixed in with their speed metal sound. The band mix up the speed on this as there is some slower parts, but there is plenty of speed to make you smile. The songs are a bit more complex and have more time changes. I love both releases and the cool fact is one is different from the other too. This is crossover no doubt and well worth getting. Info:
