MORTIFICATION/Hammer Of God (Metal Mind Productions) This is another re-release from this band and this one I liked. The band seemed to have slowed down a bit on this release as their is less super fast parts on this release. The music is still heavy, but it is more controlled and I saw this was from 1999 so maybe the band decided not to write as much speed metal stuff and make the music more mid paced. The tunes on this still have that death metal crunch and it is cool that they slowed it down at times and you don't want to keep making the same album over and over ya know. You also get 3 live bonus tracks and this follows a more death thrash sort of style, but still crushes nevertheless. Info:
