

Band Website:

Crimson Glory

MySpace

Band Members:

Midnight -- vocals

Jon Drenning -- guitars

Jeff Lords -- bass

Ravi Jakhotia -- drums, percussion

Tracks:

01. Strange And Beautiful

02. Promise Land

03. Love And Dreams

04. The Chant

05. Dance On Fire

06. Song For Angels

07. In The Mood

08. Starchamber

09. Deep Inside Your Heart

10. Make You Love Me

11. Far Away

I got an awesome stack of discs from Clint Weiler to review and I've been working my way through the unbelievable music he has sent me. I have a voracious appetite for music because I have to have it. Whether in the car, at home, or at the gym I must be satiated. This is a re-release of Crimson Glory's and Midnight just has an incredible fucking voice. I remember being told by Ben Jackson that these guys wore face plates as a gimmick. These guys don't need any gimmicks because they just flat rock. It's remastered and it sounds great. The musicianship is great, the vocals are great, and the harmonies are great. Yeah, these guys were prog metal but could also do great at rock as well. I think "Song For Angels" is a great ballad and once again shows me how great Midnight's vocals are. This CD is definitely a blast from the past and I'm glad to have given this a listen.