

PESTILENCE/Spheres (Metal Mind Productions) Some may hate this release, but I think it is fresh and original. The band do branch out on this release and it is not a straight forward death metal release, but it does have some death metal to it. Just wicked riffs with some progressive overtones and some throaty death metal vocals. This won't be easy to get in some people, but just give it a few listens and feel the power and you also get a few bonus tracks (2 live and 2 remixed) to boot. Info:
