MODERN DRUMMER'S 2005 FESTIVAL
Featuring: CHRIS ADLER (Lamb of God) and JASON BITTNER (Shadow's Fall)

Hudson / Modern Drummer

The torch was passed – reader poll winner Chris Adler handed over the crown to Shadow's Fall's Jason Bittner—these are their stories. This is over 2 ½ hours of NAMM performance footage with multi camera shots, some insight and explanation about their styles, Q&A, practice techniques and much more. Chris is a very relaxed public speaker, and also contributes a 13 minute “on the road” piece. He’s also a left handed person that just learned to play right handed, and truly offers some unique approaches to metal. Jason is no newcomer to this game – he’s been shredding since his Berkley school of music days. He’s an amazing player, with a very no nonsense approach. His ambidexterity and double bass drum speed is pretty remarkable. You also get an 18 minute “lesson” that includes Jason’s actual in-studio recording of “The Light That Blinds.” The DVD book is also a little catalog of some of the other drum DVDs you can get your hands on.
