

Band Website:

Satellite

MySpace

Band Members:

Robert Amirian -- vocals

Sarhan -- guitar

Mirek Gil -- guitar

Darek Lisowski -- keyboards

Krzysiek Palczewski -- keyboards

Przemec Zawadzki -- bass

Wojtek Szadkowski -- drums

Tracks:

01. The Evening Wind

02. On The Run

03. Midnight Snow

04. No Disgrace

05. Not Afraid

06. Now

07. Fight

08. A Street Between Sunrise And Sunset

09. Children

This prog band hails from Poland. When I put the CD into the player I became totally captivated. The vocalist is fantastic. Sometimes people try to sing in ranges they can't reach but this guy stays in his range. The melodies are very lush and have almost a symphonic quality to them. The whole CD flows as one track blends into the next. What's really cool about this CD is that every time you listen to it you find new things. New nuances. The first few times it's just a pleasant melodic journey but then on the next listens you notice the tempo changes and solos and breaks. You notice how well structured the songs are and just what fantastic accomplished musicians these guys are. The songs are rather long but not monotonous in the least. All in all it's beautiful music and I definitely think people should check these guys out.