

www.metalcorefanzine.com

TOTEM/Day Before The End (Metal Mind Productions) This was typical groove death metal with the tired same recycled riffs and tough guy vocals that have been done to death and adds nothing new to the scene. I don't mind that bands sound like other bands, but this was just same ole tired generic riffs with the same tough guy vocals I have heard a million time. A case of the same ole same ole and heard it all before. Info: www.mvdb2b.com