ACID DRINKERS/Dirty Money Dirty Tricks (Metal Mind Productions) Now we move on to a re-release of this bands 2nd album. The band in this still play bone solid thrash, but also inject a bit of a Faith No More sound and this might be what Faith No More would sound if they went down the thrash metal road. This is just as enjoyable as the debut and it is a bit different, but is still thrash and still has speed to it. The production is outstanding and I really love the guitar sound the band got. Also included is a live bonus track when they opened up for Deep Purple of all bands.
