

'Rockwell' benefit concert captured on disc

In September 2009, Robert Plant, Tom Jones, Joss Stone and other musicians gathered at London's O2 Arena to stage a benefit concert for Nordoff Robbins, a U.K.-based charity promoting music therapy. That show is recaptured on Welcome to Rockwell: A Night of Legendary Collaborations (2012, Midnight Releasing, DVD, $20), featuring performances by the aforementioned artists, as well as Razorlight and Lulu. Plant and Jones lead the "Rockwell All-Stars" in the finale, a cover of Let It Be. — Elysa Gardner

<http://www.usatoday.com/life/music/news/story/2012-06-21/Take-5-Beach-Boys-Jimmy-Buffer-and-more-music-picks/55733412/1>