

SPOTLIGHT ON DVDS

MICHAEL CLARK

The recent concert films from U2 and the Rolling Stones remind us of a genre that typically doesn't do well theatrically, but thrives on home video. The folks at MVD — the same company responsible for the eclectic "Under Review" documentary series — are the go-to source when it comes to finding new and classic concert DVDs and CDs.

Running the gamut of tastes and styles, MVD's catalogue is rich, diverse and has something for everyone. Whether it is rock, R&B, world/new age, folk, blues or jazz, chances are they'll have it — and it's all top-notch stuff. Many titles also include vintage videos, documentary features and interviews.

Available now are titles from Donovan, Flipper, U2, Tad, The Dead Boys, Al DiMeola, Sharon Shannon, Genesis and Method Man.

Upcoming releases include Larry Carlton & Robben Ford (Tuesday), Limp Bizkit, Stanley Jordan, Shaggy, Chris Barber and "All You Need Is Love," a sprawling 5 five-disc collective chronicling the history of popular music (all on May 13).

All single disc releases are priced between $14.95 and $24.95 and the DVDs are "Region 0" formatted, meaning they can be viewed on any player or computer.
