

<http://www.angelfire.com/rock/e4/january2010.html>

Rock N Roll Experience

BANSHEE!!!

Rating: 6 stars!

When you delve into the world of independent cinema, especially with horror flicks, it's usually hit or miss due to bad writing, low budget, or in the worst case scenario...both! With the recently released "Banshee!!!" horror movie, the plot is cool, it's based on an Irish myth that has to do with a monster who can paralyze you through soundwaves that it creates...basically, in the movie, the soundwaves make the movies victims hallucinate & the overall plot is good, the killings are awesome, the acting isn't bad, the budget is considerably low compared to major movies, but you'd never be able to tell it when you watch this movie...the scenes are all fluid, the plot is solid, it's a good horror movie, & the craziest part of it all is that there's NO topless women in the movie! The movie's sexy co-star, Ashley Bates, is the one you kinda look forward to seeing get naked, yet, she keeps her clothes on throughout the movie...that's where the twists are in this movie...it's a horror movie, yet the director did his best to NOT make it predictable in every way! The ending is simple, I won't give it away, but it involves an electric guitar played loud to kill the monster...actually, I kinda just did give away the ending, but regardless, this is a good horror movie, the thing I remember reading in the bio for this movie is that the movie itself was meant to be short & sweet & I agree, the movie is just the right length, it's not too indulgent & super long, it's just right, it starts & finishes in an 85 minute time frame & there's some cool extras as well on the dvd including bloopers & deleted scenes...the only thing honestly missing is a little nudity...horror movies without hot topless chicks; that's crazy man, crazy!

~bob suehs