Banshee!!! (MVD Visual) - A film so good that its makers opted to include not just one exclamation mark, but three in the title. Yes, it's Banshee!!!, the latest direct-to-video horror release (even if it was made in 2008) wherein some really stupid people are targeted and subsequently eliminated by a mysterious critter-thing. And, though it's a pity we never get to see this sort of routine slaughter happen to, say, our politicians, Banshee!!! earns a mark or two of respect because of the sheer love its cast and crew share for horror films old and new (and is often noticeable in their film). Plus, there's enough gore here to keep all of you bloodhounds content for an hour or two.
