Synthetic Cinema starts DVD label, seeks fright features

By Michael Gingold

Independent genre specialist Synthetic Cinema, whose titles have included PREDATOR ISLAND and WEREWOLF: THE DEVIL'S HOUND, has formed its own distribution arm, which debuts March 23 with the DVD release of BANSHEE!!!. The company plans to release all of its upcoming productions and is also seeking movies from filmmakers outside their circle as well.

“We will be acquiring and releasing a limited number of quality, finished films from other producers,” Synthetic’s Andrew Gernhard tells Fango. “We are currently looking for creature features or films with name talent in the action, adventure, sci-fi, horror and thriller genres. We will also consider some comedy. We’ve had deals to release each of our past films in all major territories around the world, from theaters in India to DVD in Japan to television in the UK, and can use our international relationships and proven sales record to help our releases sell overseas.”

Interested parties can submit their features via Synthetic’s official website.
