This week's Sound Check kicks off with a DVD featuring Carmine Appice, Tim Bogert, Jim McCarty and Jimmy Kunes: the 2006-2007 line up of Cactus. New recordings from Roy Jay and Mozart Season are also included, as well as a career-spanning DVD set from Jackson Browne.

'Live Loud & Proud,' Cactus (MVDvisual HHHH)

Cactus was initially conceived as early as late 1969 by the Vanilla Fudge rhythm section of bassist Tim Bogert and drummer Carmine Appice with guitarist Jeff Beck and singer Rod Stewart from the already dissolved Jeff Beck Group. However, Beck had an automobile accident and Stewart joined Ronnie Wood in Faces. Appice and Bogert brought in blues guitarist McCarty from Buddy Miles Express and singer Rusty Day (who passed March 6, 1982) from Amboy Dukes to complete Cactus' original 1970 line-up.

The 2006 version with former Savoy Brown vocalist Kunes and Randy Pratt on harmonica is presented on this Aug. 24 DVD, as well as CACTUS V (reviewed Sept. 2, 2006).

Highlights here include McCarty's playing throughout, the sludgy groove of "Long Tall Sally," the newer "Muscle and Soul," the double-bass driven "Parchman Farm" and the "jam at NAMM" featuring Pat Travers, Warren Haynes and Joe Bonnamassa joining the boogie trip. Lovers of heavy boogie-blues rock, get this one immediately.
