

Campus Circle

June 2-June 8, 2010

Vol. 20 Issue 22

HeWhoCanNotBeNamed - Sunday School Massacre

And we're not going to name him here, either. But HeWhoCanNotBeNamed, the mask-wearing guitarist for punk legends the Dwarves, has a solo album coming called Sunday School Massacre. In typical punk rock fashion, the mystery man explains his inspiration for "Machine Boy," one of the album's more interesting tracks.

"There was this kid that I worked with when I was a counselor. He was about 13 when I knew him, and he had some serious physical disabilities because his mom's boyfriend had beat the shit out of him when he was an infant. His hands were gnarled, his spine was out of alignment, he wore big thick glasses and he regularly shit his pants so he had to wear diapers."

Sunday School Massacre drops June 8 and features guest appearances from Dwarves members Blag Dahlia, Nick Oliveri and Andy Selway.

- Kevin Wierzbicki