Various Artists - We Fun: Atlanta GA Inside/Out

A presentation from Atlanta's garage rock tourist board A sequel of sorts to 1987's Athens GA Inside/Out, We Fun presents a portrait of Atlanta's vibrant garage rock scene. It certainly looks fun: you'd be forgiven for thinking that, at any given minute of any day, there's a crowd of intoxicated hipsters racing from house parties to tiny clubs in search of the loosest, loudest and snottiest music the city has to offer.

The explosive club footage of Black Lips, Deerhunter and King Khan & The Shrines marks them as the best of the bunch and shows why these bands are a vital force on the US touring circuit. The worst excesses of the scene are represented by Mourdella, whose frontwoman Jessica Juggz shoots fire out of her lady-bits in a part of the show she tactfully calls “pussy flambé”.

At 65 minutes, We Fun doesn't amount to much. There's a definite “you had to be there” vibe which stems from too much in-joking and back-slapping; the only concession to a world outside the scene is a frustratingly brief interview with local metal heroes Mastodon. But, in the spirit of the music it depicts, the film successfully captures the excitement and close-knit camaraderie of a small clutch of bands and fans discovering the primitive power of garage rock.
