

Blowing Fuses Left & Right: The Legendary Detroit Rock Interviews

Main Plot Points: (<http://www.dvdsnapshot.com/wp-content/uploads/2013/07/blowingfusesleftandright.jpg>)

- Never before seen interview footage from 1988 with Ron Asheton (Stooges), Rob Tyner and Dennis Thompson (MC5). The complete interview sessions are available here for the very first time.

What We Thought:

- Blowing Fuses Left & Right may not draw you in unless you were aware of bands like The Stooges and MC5.
- However, even if you weren't a fan of these bands, the tales from the road and studio from Ron Asheton and Rob Tyner may be enough to keep your interest.
- This is not an actual documentary where it tells a cohesive narrative, it's a compilation of raw interview footage from a former documentary from the late 1980's.
- There are some cool stories that are told, but there are also huge chunks of these interviews that obviously didn't make the cut for the original documentary, so a lot of this content would only be interesting for hardcore fans of those bands.

Special Features:
