

Contact HorrorNews.Net? news@horrornews.net

Film Review: Planet of the Vampire Women (2011)

Posted on 05/12/2012 by zman 2 comments

SYNOPSIS:

PLANET OF THE VAMPIRE WOMEN is an action-packed sci-fi adventure of the galaxy's sexiest space pirates who pull off the ultimate heist only to crash into a nightmare world of unrelenting horror!

REVIEW:

It isn't often that I see something new that causes me to revert to being an adolescent aside from the things that I had discovered during that timeframe in my life. For some reason, watching the film "Planet of the Vampire Women" did that for me. As outrageous and silly as the film may be, there is a certain charm that brought out that young teenage boy in me that had my eyes glued to the screen. Not so much for the ever so enthralling story, more for the incredibly lovely women that grace the screen. Everything about the film just screams ridiculous, but there was never a time during the film that I didn't have a smirk on my face.

A group of space pirates pulls off a major heist aboard a casino ship. With only a few minor issues, they think they have made it away clear and free. The law is close on their tail and their only option is to crash land on a planet where they have to make a crash landing. A strange force quickly takes over the captain's body and she disappears. The remaining crew reluctantly teams up with the law when they realize that they are being picked off one by one and turning them into undead bloodsuckers.

Director Darin Wood does a fantastic job with the visual look of the film. These aren't "Avatar" like effects, they are ludicrous and hilarious. From my research, I have gathered that this film cost roughly around $25,000 and I would have guessed much more than that. As low budget as it looks, I would have thought they had spent at least triple that of what they did. The film is filled with vibrant colors which accents the playfulness of the picture.

This is a film where only two of the main cast members are men. The rest are all very talented and lovely women that are fully capable of carrying the film. Most importantly, they get what type of film this is and have fun with it. Keith Leti as Automatic Jones and Jawara Duncan as Sgt. Falco breathe life into their characters. Not just one dimensional and both have strong personalities. My favorite actress in the film was the villain played by Pacquita Estrada, a tough as nails leader that is turned into a vicious vampire hungry for blood. Her Captain Richards is a badass and a born leader. Also a standout is Liesel Hanson as Ginger. Once their captain becomes a bloodsucker, the rest of the crew needs someone to turn to and she steps to the plate.

Well, I have held out long enough. I tried not to mention it but there is just no holding it back. There's lots of boobies. All kinds of boobies, even bloody boobies. I tried counting all the sets of boobies but after ten, I just couldn't keep up. Not all of the actresses bare them, but many do. That is what brought out my inner teenager. I giggled like a little boy seeing a boob for the first time. This is the type of film I would stay up late and try watching after my parents went to bed. The sexual situations are kept to a minimum, so you just get a lot of women getting their tops torn off. A very wonderful thing.

"Planet of the Vampire Women" knows what it is and does an outstanding job of that. A fun exploitation film that pays homage to cheesy sci-fi horror films of decades past. They use cardboard sets, outlandish sound effects, plenty of blood (that also include some nifty arterial spray and gore), and more boobies than any one person could handle. I have no problem giving this film *** (out of 5). My only complaint is that the film felt like it was beginning to over stay its welcome a bit but overall this film is just plain fun.

Planet of the Vampire Women (2011)

Other Cool Articles:

Film Review: Crypt Of The Living Dead (1972)

Film Review: Plaguers (2008)

Film Review: Blood Wars (2007)

Top 15 Hottest Sexiest Female Vampires

Film Review: Voyage To The Planet Of Prehistoric Women (1968)

Related Posts

- Film Review: Blade II \(2002\)
- Vampire Movie Favourites
- Film Review: Vamp \(1986\)
- Film Review: Dracula 2000 \(2000\)
- Film Review: Near Dark \(1987\)
- Film Review: The Lost Boys \(1987\)
- Film Review: A Return to Salem's Lot \(1987\)
- Film Review: Lifeforce \(1985\)
- Film Review: The Hunger \(1983\)
- Film Review: Fright Night \(1985\)

This entry was posted in Film Reviews and tagged Ashley Marino, darin wood, jawara duncan, John Douglas Ayers, Keith Lett, liesel hanson, Paquita Estrada, planet of the vampire women, Robert Michael Haley, Stephanie Hyden, vampire. Bookmark the permalink.

About Zman

Z-Man has been with HorrorNews since 2009. He is a self-proclaimed geek with an appetite for the bizarre!! Connect with me on Facebook
View all posts by Zman →

If you like following our Horror News make sure to subscribe to the RSS Feed!

2 Responses to Film Review: Planet of the Vampire Women (2011)

Christy Savage says:

05/18/2012 at 6:30 pm

Thanks so much for the kind words, ZMan! Glad you liked our movie!!! We're working on a new one right now that's like Shaft vs. Cthulhu!

Reply