Release date: April 20

Details: 2013, MVD Entertainment

Rated: Not rated

The lowdown: A documentary that looks at ear X-tacy Records, a famous record store in Louisville, Ky.

The movie follows the store's struggle to survive during a technological revolution in which people are downloading their music from the Internet.

The film includes interviews with storeowner John Timmons as well as other independent storeowners from all across the nation.

They discuss the services they provide and what is at stake if they are forced to fold.

Technical aspects: Not available.

Don't miss: No extras.

Last Shop Standing: The Rise, Fall and Rebirth of the Independent Record Shop: Deluxe Edition

Release date: April 20

Details: 2013, Convexe Entertainment

Rated: Not rated

The lowdown: A documentary that looks at why nearly 2,000 record shops already have disappeared across the United Kingdom.

The film looks at the rise of the shops in the 1960s, '70s and '80s, their influences on record charts, their sometimes-unsavory deals, the demise of vinyl and the rise of the CD and new technologies.
