

home news about mike tour dates interact the forum

gallery archives drum setup merchandise

Tweets

Follow @MikePortnoy

soundpréss.net/files-cd-revie... Retweeted by Mike Portnoy Expand

Mike Portnoy @MikePortnoy 7 Jul Smell The Glove! @PristinePro just dropped off my new Drum Cam DVD...coming soon! ----> pic.twitter.com/nsae7DmuUh Show Photo

Load More

Welcome !

Forum Themes: MP Enter Search Phrase

All Forums >> [User Forums] >> General Public and Music Chat

Forum Menu Photo Galleries Log in Registration / Sign up

RSS Feed Thread Options

dUg Pinnick-Naked

<< Prev Thread | Next Thread >>

Author

Message

TheOnlyNameLeft

Forum Member

dUg Pinnick-Naked Friday, June 21, 2013 8:37 PM (permalink)

This is my first introduction to a King's X side project. I was weary after seeing how many people who are amazing in a band, just fall flat on their faces without that environment. That isn't the case here, Doug produces a good album by himself. He plays guitar and uses a drum machine. Evidently he doesn't need ANY help to make a good album. Onto some of the songs:

What You Gonna Do?-Great rocking song by dUg. You might be disappointed by his bitching, but I read in some interview, he spills out his evil, gets it out, and that's good. Productive really. That's what music is for :)

If you ---- Up- An anti-suicide song inspired by a text from Doug's friend who was checking up on him, I think it's an upbeat song. And also a good one.

Courage-Just a bad track. Feel free to skip.

Total Posts : 815
Joined: 3/26/2010
Location: Lansing, MI
Status: offline

Ain't That The Truth-Upbeat song. Quite good. In a perfect world this and That Great Big Thing would see spins on the radio.

That Great Big Thing-GREAT SONG. There's a video for this. Check it out <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=OESjxnR7o5c> Kind of bluesy song. Nice mid-tempo jam.

The Point-Mediocre song anyway, plus it sounds a little too much like Eclipse by Pink Floyd.

Take Me Away From You-Super Heavy. dUg going perhaps a little conspiracy theory nutty here, but I can at least agree "It's a world of trouble, and it's going to be darkest before dawn." Strong track musically.

Heart Attack-Good song, fairly heavy. Pretty good sound by the drum machine on this one.

Pretty solid album by dUg. Some clunkers, but also high points that make up for them. If you're a newcomer to dUg's music, start with Gretchen or Dogman, but if you already have those and like those, this is a great next step. 3 / 5.

<MESSAGE EDITED BY THEONLYNAMELEFT ON FRIDAY, JUNE 21, 2013 8:41 PM>

Dear awesome musicians... Please stop touring only in May. I can't see you all this way. Thanks, TheOnlyNameLeft.

kingsXrocks

Forum Member

Total Posts : 1671
Joined: 9/17/2006
Location: Fuddruckers
Status: offline

Re:dUg Pinnick-Naked Monday, June 24, 2013 7:16 PM (permalink)

Haven't heard this yet (places I looked were sold out). I did listen to the Pridgen Gales Pinnick album, and it's pretty solid, check that one out.

#1

jehu12141987

Forum Member

Total Posts : 553
Joined: 1/31/2012
Location: St. Augustine/Jacksonville, FL
Status: offline

Re:dUg Pinnick-Naked Tuesday, June 25, 2013 3:19 PM (permalink)

I was expecting a photo.

Members of Symphony X,JOLLY,Periphery,BTBAM,Flower Kings,Perfect Circle,Blotted Science,Michael Manning,&Kevin Moore(DT/OSI) approve of our album recorded@Neal Morse's studio, mastered by BTBAM's Jamie King... will you? :)

Album: <http://artilectband.bandcamp.com/>

www.facebook.com/artilect

#2

TheOnlyNameLeft

Forum Member

Re:dUg Pinnick-Naked Wednesday, July 03, 2013 10:20 AM (permalink)

^^^The video for That Great Big Thing features close enough to me lol

#3