

DRAGON CITY - PUNK ROCK IN CHINA (DVD) - MVD VISUAL

Dubbing itself the "first punk rock movie ever produced in the People's Republic of China" Dragon City is the story of Chinese punk band No Name living in a post-apocalyptic world where money and gold caused the "big mistake" and left the world in ruins. They journey in wastelands - or what looks like abandoned places in China - and evade flesh eaters in search of meaning and purpose. They meet an American, speaking in a Southern accent, who offers them a way and tells them about Dragon City. They are led to a place 'far removed from the desolation' seen before and the quartet starts playing on a modern looking stage and slowly the crowds gather... . Musically the band is standard punk with simple screams and fast and straight forward riffs.

The movie itself is 37 minutes long but the extras are more than double that. The bonus material include director's, Darryl Pestilence, commentary where he tells story of how he get to know the band in 2009, directed their music videos and got the idea for this film and he goes on to admit to numerous continuity errors in the film! Also available are a few music videos, live footage and other short segments made by the same director. Where necessary English subtitles are used. – Anna Tergel
