Flipper - Love

Flipper je bez puno najave, iznenada izdao novi album, iako serem kako su mi oni najdrazi i u ta doba toj sceni nevjerovatno potreban bend, ja za ovo nisam znao :s

uglavnom izašao maja 19. a na netu ga nigdje nema, a ova recenzija zvuči pošteno

It's either a testament to the biodiversity measure of how badly punk's spun out of after Green Day drops its latest eyeliner world that Flipper releases a new studio album in the sand. Pick your side: Appearances on smelly rock clubs. Anthems made to blare to peel paint off the walls. Rebellion as a catchphrase from the Bush II era or rebellion as a catch phrase from Flipper might not be the freshest punk album since neither is Green Day), but the San Francisco band has much of their early cachet. Sure, there's no new noise-punk masterwork, "Sex Bomb" anywhere near Love, but Flipper is over-amplified and over-exaggerated as it is

With former Nirvana bassist Krist Novoselic holding down the low end, Flipper's grimy noise. Novoselic's bass lords over the mix, with Ted Falconi's guitar foursome riles up listeners. You'll either immediately fall in love with Love or forever. That's just how all punk

Garage noise and hardcore abandon make Love a testament to old-school punk. "Child" comes out of the gate, with a bass line that rumbles and pummels with Bruce Loose barks with the insistence of a smoker with a pack-a-day habit asking for a smoke. Falconi's guitar attacks Novoselic's concrete-crumbing bass line in a Mass. "Why Can't You See" jumps head-first into that empty swimming pool and every bone in its body in a wild-eyed jaunt through

If mainstream punk faces a destiny where repeated spit-polishing rubs it clean, the world will be there with our helping of noise, grime and sleaze. Love is punk rock imaju neke nove stvari, i linkovi za jos novih stvari (lol) iz cega zakljucujem da im se desilo isto sto i Killing Jokeu presvetom na Hosannas from the Basements of Hell - postali mracniji no ikad, ogorceniji, čvršći, fokusiraniji ali i, čini mi se, prekorkurca kreativni - mozda je vrijeme za penziju.
