Documents 60 amateur women (unpretentious, unadorned and undressed) set to an original musical score by Thurston Moore.

An iconic figure in both art and rock photophography, Kern is a master at coaxing spontaneous humor from the blatantly erotic.

Indeed, if it were not for the humor and the ponderous musical score from Thurston Moore of Sonic Youth, this mixed collection from his archives might get predictable.

Kern is at home in the play of voyeurism here in the bedrooms and apartments of those women he loves to photograph.

According to the press release that accompanied the DVD, he asked those in the video compilation to "roll around and do something interesting for a few minutes."

It stays on the edge of the material and of prurience.

As an added treat, the following previously unreleased Kern films have been included.
