

Immortalised: Earache Records 1986-2000 DVD

MVDvisual

I was really excited when Colleen handed me this DVD to review last week. This DVD includes all the videos on the Earache My Eye DVD I reviewed a few weeks ago, but it also includes some new videos plus some cool extra goodies like complete discographies, biographies and some live clips. On this destructive DVD you'll find videos from Morbid Angel, Cathedral, Napalm Death, Carcass, Entombed, PitchShifter, Godflesh, Dub War, Sleep, Iron Monkey, Linea 77, At The Gates, Brutal Truth, Misery Loves Co., Extreme Noise Terror, The Berzerker, Vader, Bolr Thrower, Pulkas and Gandalf. The video I was most excited to see was Morbid Angel's "God of Emptiness." I hadn't seen this video since I was high school. I'm seriously thinking of learning that song to cover in my band. After them my next favorite band on herer would be At the Gates. Anyone else as excited as me about their reunion tour. I already got my ticket. The Berzerker video on this is pretty crazy. There is an actual censored part in it. Not nudity, just crazy flashing of scene fast enough to give some an epileptic fit, which is why you have to go online to watch the uncut version. Metal fans, this is a must have for you your collection. I only wish that Earache would have included some other faves of mine like Entombed's "Hollowman" or "Stranger Aeons", the earlier videos from Napalm Death and Carcas and especially Cathedral.
