

SNOOP DOGG DROP IT LIKE IT'S HOT

Although nothing will ever top his performance on the 1994 MTV Video Music Awards (the one where he rose out of a coffin during “Murder Was The Case” and rapped while being carted around in a wheelchair), the Doggfather always puts on an entertaining, almost cartoon-like show. Filmed in Brussels in 2005, the DVD plays like a This Is Your Life: The Cordozar Calvin Broadus, Jr. edition. Pretty much every hit single that the family man (have you seen Snoop Dogg's Father Hood? So many jokes.) has graced us with since 1993 is there, including the classic “Deep Cover.” The Dr. Dre, Suge Knight and Pharrell years are all covered, but the real selling point is not the guest appearance from the Game, as the DVD claims, but the in-depth look at Snoop’s career trajectory; from the Crips to endorsing his own pet accessory line. [ISABELLE DAVIS]
