

The Daily Record

www.dunndailyrecord.com

- Eddy Friedfeld

MARC ALMOND - LIVE AT LOKERSEFEESTEN 2000

Marc Almond shot to prominence in 1981 as the front man and face of the synth pop duo Soft Cell when their dance-orientated debut single, 'Tainted Love' became a major hit worldwide. This DVD captures him in excellent form during his 2000 European Tour filmed at The Lokerse Feesten in Belgium. The concert opens with a selection of his recent work, including three songs from his critically acclaimed 1999 album, 'Open All Night'. These are followed by performances of his biggest hits from the Eighties and Nineties. Over the years Almond has always maintained his musical integrity and has continued to develop his highly distinctive style of torch singing. Often challenging and occasionally dealing with controversial and sleazy themes, his eclectic musical style has gained a loyal following with his fans and he remains a favorite with club and dance audiences around the world.