A trilogy of punk and reggae documentaries about the music scene in the UK that are bursting with raw performances by seemingly everyone: the Clash, Madness, the Jam, Boomtown Rats, the Specials, the Pretenders, Steel Pulse and more. Nothing remarkable on a technical level and the interviews are just filler, but filmmaker Wolfgang Buld was in the right place at the right time and made the most of it. Punk In London and Punk In England are both $19.95 from MVDVisual and run from 90 to 107 minutes while Reggae in Babylon is slightly cheaper ($16.95) and only 45 minutes. All three should be bundled together for $24.95, frankly.
