David Lean in Close Up with Jonathan Ross

BBC FOUR, 9.00PM

Extended version of Ross's film, first shown earlier this year, about David Lean. The first Briton to win the Best Director Oscar twice, Lean masterminded classics as varied as Brief Encounter, The Bridge on the River Kwai and Lawrence of Arabia. His single-minded methods, however, didn't always make him popular on-set. Steven Spielberg is among those paying tribute. Ross, meanwhile, goes back to his roots as a film buff, rather than the overpaid Beeb fixture he's become. MH

Sid! By Those Who Really Knew Him

SKY ARTS 1/SKY ARTS 1HD, 9.00PM

Not a profile of Carry On cackler

HULTON

Mr James or the unseen star of the British Gas privatisation ads, but Sex Pistols bassist Mr Vicious. The heroin addict and alleged killer crammed a lot into his 21 years. Fellow punk figures, including Malcolm McLaren and Dame Vivienne Westwood, tell the story of his troubled life, self-destructive career and death by overdose - the morning after a party celebrating his release on bail pending trial for the murder of girlfriend Nancy Spungen. A fascinating cultural snapshot and at times, surprisingly moving. MH
