

Watch: Nine Inch Nails' Trent Reznor and Alessandro Cortini Talk Synthesizers in Documentary Clip

From the film I Dream of Wires

By

Evan Minsker

on December 12, 2013 at 11:00 a.m.

- Tweet 62
- Like 2.8k
-  +5

I Dream of Wires is a new documentary about the history of the modular synthesizer. Among its many interviews is one with Nine Inch Nails' Trent Reznor and Alessandro Cortini that took place in Reznor's studio. Below, watch a 12-minute extended version of the interview, not featured in the theatrical cut of the film.

The documentary also features interviews with Gary Numan, Vince Clarke, Throbbing Gristle's Chris Carter, Clark, Factory Floor, Morton Subotnick, Jimmy Edgar, James Holden, and others. Watch a trailer for the film below the interview.

The film's four-hour extended cut, the Hardcore Edition, is available to order on DVD and Blu-ray. The film's theatrical cut will premiere in the spring.

The soundtrack to I Dream of Wires was composed by Solvent. Listen to "King Vincent" from the soundtrack here.