

By Linda Brady
Standard-Examiner staff

"Sue Foley: Live in Europe."

Foley's is a concert video (with a companion CD of extras) and it shows her off splendidly as one of the best blues/rock guitarists of today.

Filmed in a German nightclub, Foley and her road band deliver a strong and solid set. Foley is not one to chat with her audience, but rather stands and delivers her licks and vocals in steaming roadhouse fashion.

Filming that involves nightclubs, with the usually subdued lighting, is often a weak point in these sorts of films. Here, the visuals are strong.

Close-up detail of Foley's guitar playing will surely please the strummers on your list. The combination of Foley's fiery, redheaded good looks and her strong musicianship makes this an especially engaging concert film for blues lovers.