

Best Blu-ray Deals

Best Blu-ray Deals, See Deals »

Top deals | Price drops

Blu-ray Forum > Movies > Collectibles and Limited Editions > SteelBooks > Hard Core Logo 1 & 2 Blu-ray SteelBook

User Name [input] [input] Remember Me?

Password [input] [input] Log in

Register

FAQ

Community

Calendar

Today's Posts

Search

Thread Tools | Display Modes

11-30-2012, 04:59 PM

moc.yar-ulB

Hard Core Logo 1 & 2 Blu-ray SteelBook

Senior Member

Hard Core Logo Blu-ray SteelBook. It is G2 (Blu-ray size). There is no Amaray case released for this Blu-ray. This is a Canada release, but can also be bought at amazon.com. Available at:

<http://www.amazon.ca/gp/product/B0091UCB5W>

<http://www.amazon.com/Hard-Core-Logo...hard+core+logo>

<http://www.videoservicecorp.com/inde...-logo-blu-ray/>

Member since: Dec 2008

Location: Ontario, Canada Blu-ray SteelBook™: 507+ Blu-ray IronPack™: 034

Home Theater Gallery: 81

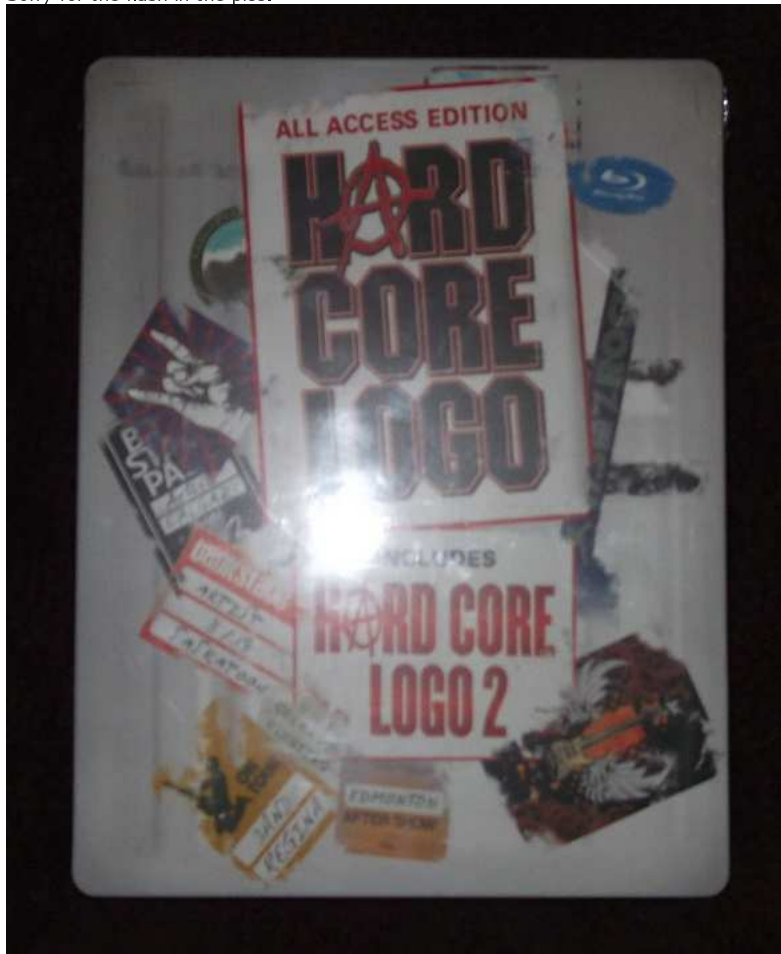

Blu-ray collection: 1319

DVD collection: 6

PS3 collection: 1

Trading Score: Z

Sorry for the flash in the pics.

Hard Core Logo is often compared to This Is Spinal Tap--and for marketing purposes, that makes sense: both are pretend documentary bands (a self-important heavy metal crew in Spinal Tap, a self-destructing punk mob in Hard Core Logo). But though Hard Core Logo is funny, it's not really a comedy; it's a piercing examination of friendship and betrayal, success and self-hatred, and everything that fuels Lead singer Joe Dick (Hugh Dillon) uses false pretenses to convince guitarist Billy Tallent (Callum Keith Rennie) to reform Hard Core Logo across Canada, followed by a film crew (featuring director Bruce McDonald, whose other films include Roadkill and Highway 61, as himse agrees, but only because he expects to be joining a much more successful rock group very shortly and sees this as a favor to Dick. As town to town, their relationship unravels, as does the psyche of bass player John Oxenberger (John Pyper-Ferguson). The performance is genuine; even the oafish drummer Pipefitter (Bernie Coulson) becomes three-dimensional. By the end, you'll believe in them so much as the band's disintegration is truly wrenching. A remarkable film, both comic and sad. --Bret Fetzer

Living Room: Sony BRAVIA 55" KDL55BX520 ~ Denon AVR-789 ~ Precision Acoustics HD25 (Fronts), HDC (Center), HDS10 (Sub) ~ PoK Audio RM10 (4 Rears) ~ SEIKI BD660 [Region free] ~ HD-DVD HD-30 ~ Belkin PureAV Home Theater Power PF60
Bedroom: LG 37" 37LG60 Scarlet ~ Home Theater JVC RX-6032V 5.1 ~ Sony BDP-S360 ~ Dynex DXWBRDVD1-CA (Netflix) ~ HD-DVD HD-A3 ~ Belkin PureAV Home Theater Power PF30

"I love TV. It's not my fault if the tubes blow out when I laugh." Phyllis Diller