

Sleepwalk with Me (IFC Films)

Author of an off-Broadway play and bestselling book of the same name, Sleepwalk with Me director Mike Birbiglia stars as a frustrated standup comedian who blows it with his girlfriend, then finds himself sleepwalking through a series of absurd misadventures. Birbiglia (hard to pronounce but also hard to forget one you see this movie) evokes a classic comedic spirit while creating something wonderfully fresh and original, pushing the boundaries of the rom-com in a welcome, refreshing way.

Screenwriting aficionados will want to stay tuned for the Writer's Guild Q&A with Mike, This American Life's Ira Glass and golden boy Joss Whedon. There's also an entertaining audio commentary, outtakes, and quite a bit of behind-the-scenes/"making of" content.

Hard Core Logo (VSC)

Filmmaker Bruce McDonald's cult gem follows the brink-of-disaster reunion of the fictitious punk rock band Hard Core Logo. Rock 'n' roll drama born of big egos and old wounds has been done before and since (imagine if This Is Spinal Tap didn't go for the funnybone) but seldom with such brains, heart and honesty. VSC's new "All Access Edition" has been restored for Blu-ray and arrives in a strangely appropriate steelbook package.

While lightning did not strike the same spot twice for Hard Core Logo 2, the sequel's inclusion here is a happy bonus, along with its own director commentary to balance that on the original feature. There's also a music video, an excerpt from the book about the movie, and more, some exclusive to Blu-ray.
