This dvd is a documentary on the rise of Iron Maiden & the rise of the NWOBHM over in England...musically, if it wasn't for those bands, the current scene would NOT be the same..bands like Bullet for My Valentine, Avenged Sevenfold, etc., owe a wealth of debt to the bands on this documentary, & I might note that Metallica owe the bulk of their career to most of these bands!!! This dvd documents how the scene started out at a disco style dance club where a dj would break local bands & how Sounds magazine became the "in" magazine for that scene, & probably the most interesting character from that era was Thundersticks, a masked drummer from the band Samson! The dvd basically chronical's to the point where Iron Maiden's Number of the Beast's cd comes out, then it trails off & if you don't know the history of the NWOBH, this is a must see dvd for you & even if you do know the entire story, it's still a killer dvd to check out!
