VIDEO GAME THEATER

Rating: 6 stars

This dvd made me laugh my ass off! Video Game Theater is a short comedy skit that's shown on MTV Europe & basically, it's a handful of comedic spoof's on classic video game characters like Pac Man, Donkey Kong, Mario, & my personal favorite, as they put it, the first ever retarded video game star, Q-bert! The Pac Man pieces are the most popular & the spoofs show Pac Man at various points in his career, they elude to the fact that his son is gay, he's abusive to Ms. Pac Man & has some kinda serious drug habit...Joust is a seedy tale of a guy having an affair with an animal, & all I can honestly say is that this is one warped & twisted dvd that made me laugh pretty hard because whether you were old enough to play the classic "atari" era games back in the day or you only know of them because your parents speak of the older games, this dvd is a funny jaunt into video game past & the puppets look pretty cool, the overall show is low budget & that's part of the appeal to each episode....everything is low key, yet it's funnier than any high budget show out there!
