CD Review: Sixty Minutes With John Martyn

October 27th 2007 by zzsimonb

John Martyn is another much under played British musician. Perhaps best known for his association with Pentangle bassist Danny Thompson. This partnership resulted in two critically acclaimed albums 'Bless The Weather' and 'Solid Air'.

Over the years John has played with many fine musicians from a couple of the tracks on this progressive, patriotic time respect A dedication Dave Gilmour of Pink Floyd

The CD sleeve notes claim that John Martyn is somewhere between Rock and Folk, I have to disagree, I feel his style is smooth Jazz. This is pure unadulterated seduction music! Pop this on the player and the young lady will be putty in your hands!

If you have never heard John Martyn I can recommend Sixty Minutes With, it is a great window on on this talented man. Many of the tracks on this compilation are live recordings, and this is the only way to appreciate his great talent. He is still very active on the tour circuit, though primarily in the UK, so if you are visiting the 'old country' keep an eye out for one of his concerts.
