

<http://www.metallian.com>

GOTHKILL (DVD) - 2009

50/100

This so-called horror movie is about Nick Dread, played by New York based artist Flambeaux, a catholic priest who is burned at the stake for claiming that some witches are innocent. He subsequently makes a deal with Satan to turn over hundred thousand souls over to Satan in return for future rule over hell. Onward to the present and just when Dread is ready to begin delivering the promised souls things go wrong and he is transformed into the body of a woman. And the rest is history!

What the viewer is dealing with here is a low budget movie with a plot that is perhaps not the strongest. This is reflected in many other aspects of the film, from the acting to the special effects, as well. Gothkill is really only for the curious and also features Eve Blackwater, and Mistress Juliya aka Juliya Chernetsky of Fuse TV (formerly MuchMusicUSA). – Anna Tergel