

This Week In DVD: December 1st

Posted by Rob Hunter (rob@filmschoolrejects.com) on December 1, 2009

Read more at Film School Rejects: This Week In DVD: December 1st - Film School Rejects

Blood Equity

Pitch: What happens after an NFL player leaves the field for good and the brain injuries begin to appear...

Why Rent? I don't follow football so I won't pretend to care about the trials and tribulations endured by the players, but this is a fairly interesting doc regardless. It focuses on retired players from years ago who suffer from all kinds of brain-related injuries and receive little to no help from the league. Things are a bit better for modern-day players as they have their multi-million dollar salaries to fall back on, but these old-timers played for beans. Literal beans people!

Blu-ray? No

Extra Features? None

