ROBIN GEORGE enjoyed a worldwide hit single in 1985 with "Heartline" and his stock was high as he entered the studio to record a follow up to his critically acclaimed album "Dangerous Music". The album had the working title "Dangerous Music 11" and was produced by acclaimed producer GUS DUDGEON.

By the end of 1986 the album was completed and ready to go but his then management company went to market and because of the success of "Heartline" sought ridiculous advances and as such the album was never released-until now.

The band recording the album broke up and Robin then formed NOTORIOUS with former Diamond Head frontman SEAN HARRIS (released on Angel Air "Radio Silence" SJPCD332)
