JACKIE LOMAX was the lead vocalist and bass player in The UNDERTAKERS the rockiest, stompingest Mersey beat band of them all from the 60's. The band moved to USA in 1965 and then changed their name to LOMAX ALLIANCE. In 1966, BRIAN EPSTEIN came to New York with The BEATLES and offered to manage Jackie as a solo artist but after Epstein's untimely death a planned album was never released instead Jackie was signed as the first artist to The Beatles Apple label. The rest is history

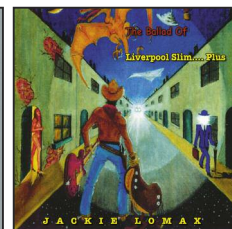

This release compiles tracks across Jackie's 47 year career before his untimely death in 2013. A 2CD set that brings together unreleased tracks, rare tracks and Jackie's favourite live concert from 1976 as well as a German language version of "How The Web Was Woven".
