Lyricaly, it's a concept album about a symbolical hunt for the true Sun and everything that this journey means to every man. The quest for the light that exists in everyone's heart, a tale of quest that never ends as hope exists.

"From a Crimson Dawn at the shores of the sea, to the deepest desert under a Sun that never sets, a journey to a place where the light is so absolute that leaves you so blind, as in the darkest night... A hunt for the Sun, the real One, who sets every day to rise the next... The one who guides you, and not only blinds you..
