

House Of Fire: s/T

Slick and sweet 60s style psychedelic pop.

House of Fire cites their main influences as the psychedelic sound of the 60's. Lacing dense, jangly rhythms and intricate melodies into impassioned soulful sketches, that evoke spirits of the past and signs of the future. House Of Fire's debut release promises to be the soundtrack to your hazy neon scattered afternoon. For fans of the paisley underground and canyon rock movements of the west coast - or bands like Brian Jonestown Massacre, Ride, early works from the Byrds and Velvet Underground just to name a few.
